Please join us in this humble and sacred mission through the below mentioned ways:

Christmas Offering Envelopes - You may wish to offer your Christmas donation to the community by sending your donation directly to the Church office. Please contact the office if you wish to have your credit card charged.

Visitations to the Sick - People who have or know of persons convalescing in homes or hospitals and wish to receive the Sacraments during these Holy Days may contact Father Nicholas.

Donations for Flowers - Donations for purchase of Christmas Poinsettias for the decoration of the Holy Altar during the holidays are needed. You may see Father Nicholas or the Parish Office to make your donation.

My Dear Fellow Parishioners,

Would you allow me share with you the wonderful words from a wonderful young theologian and dear friend for the past 30 years; Dr. Tony Vrame. He is the Director of Religious Education for our Archdiocese and has preached here many Sundays over the years and has some wonderful reflections for all of us to enjoy and ponder during this Advent season. I have edited a few things out of his letter...mostly because it was addressed to the educators of the Parishes, however, the message is intact and rather relevant to our daily struggle to be good Christians.

Father Nicholas

(edited from the Christmas letter from Dr. Vrame to the Parish Educators)

Often lost amid the lights, decorations, shopping and celebrating is the significance of the Nativity of Christ, in other words the Incarnation itself. As Orthodox Christians we make an extremely radical claim: that God became human, he became one of us. Of course we believe he retained the fullness of his divinity even as he took on the fullness of our humanity, except sin. Fr. John Breck in his book God With Us (SVS Press, 2003, p. 158) offers a clear explanation of the meaning of the Incarnation when he writes, "Why the Incarnation? Because in order for us to share in His life, He had to assume all the conditions of both our life and our death. He had to become what we are, in order to enable us to become what He is in the fullness of His eternal life and glory."

As we begin the season of the Christmas Fast, we have an opportunity to reflect first on the mystery of the Incarnation. It is an extremely difficult idea to fathom, so don't be dismayed! This is also a good time to reflect on our human nature, what we believe about ourselves as human beings. While we say, we are created in the "image and likeness of God," (Genesis 1:26), this leaves us with the question of what is the image of God within humanity.

On November 15th the Nativity Fast begins. Unlike other fast seasons in the Church, there are few if any references to the season's beginning in our liturgical hymns. This tells us that the fast is "recent," that is came about well after the hymns for today were written. Given that the Fast is 40 days in length tells us that the desire is to imitate Great Lent in some way by creating this period of preparation for the birth of the Lord. How people observe the fast varies widely from culture to culture and parish to parish, so I will not tell this world-wide audience how to observe it. Ask your parish priest or local church leaders about how your community observes the fast.

Second, the season is filled with the celebrations of many saints. To name a few from now until Christmas, we will celebrate St. Katherine, St. Andrew, St. Barbara, St. Savvas, St. John of Damascus, St. Nicholas, St. Spyridon and these are just some of the "big names"! While every day celebrates a saint of importance, this is a rich season for study and celebration (and as a humorous aside, one reason why I think some people don't observe the fast too strictly, especially early on - too many nameday celebrations).

Third, in American culture, the Christmas season is a time for charitable giving. This is an important activity and there are many ways to organize parish life and programs to collect food, warm clothing, money, and other items and distribute them to the poor and the needy around us. Also, many youth groups will devote time to visiting shut-ins, whether from the parish or the community at large, offering gifts and most importantly offering friendship and fellowship to others. Of course, these activities can and should happen year round, but Christmas is a good time to start or reinvigorate a program. To this, worth studying and thinking about are all the reasons in our society for the existence of the poor and the lonely and what the Orthodox Christian Faith teaches about our social responsibilities.

Fourth, there are many cultural traditions for celebrating and commemorating the Christmas season, from cookies and breads made at only this time of year, to the ever present candy cane (shepherd's staffs - not "J's for Jesus"). But all of them carry the message of Christmas into our homes, helping us to remember the story of the Nativity. A great family or family night activity could be to make these "treats" and share the stories they relate, as well as the stories from our own childhoods with the next generation.

The season is rich for our work as Christians but also for growing in our knowledge as well.

YOUNG AT HEART

The Young at Heart meeting on Nov. 4th was well attended by over 50 members. The guest speaker was Gregory J. Raphael ESQ., who spoke on various topics related to estate planning, tax laws and last will and testaments. It was a very informative talk followed by a question and answer period.

After lunch was served, there was a special celebration in honor of the 100th birthday of Paraskevi Hiotakis. We wish Mrs. Hiotakis a very happy birthday!

Our first event of the season was on Oct. 21st at Nikos Taverna in White Plains. A three course lunch was enjoyed by the large group that attended.

President Cleo Canelos made several announcements at the Nov. 4th meeting. The date of the trip to Cape May was changed to Monday Dec. 6th and returning on Dec. 8th.

The Young at Heart is also undertaking a project to decorate the large tree next to the church entrance for the Christmas holiday. Once completed, the lights will remain for many seasons.

Our event for January will be a matinee "Jekyll and Hyde", at the Elmsford Dinner Theatre. Please look for details in the Sunday church bulletin.

Our annual Christmas party will be on December 2nd at 11:00am.

Happy holidays!

Philoptochos Comings and Goings

September went by in a flash with everybody hard at work on the festival and what a great festival it was! Perfect weather and what seemed like "a zillion" people attended!

In October we had our first General meeting of the church year to re-connect with our friends (over wine and mezadokia!) and to discuss the schedule of events for 2010-2011 (which looks like it is going to be a busy year!) 40 women attended this meeting giving us the opportunity to go over a lot of information. Cyndi Anctil gave us a report on this year's National Convention sharing with us what went on at the convention and giving us a lot to think about, thank you Cyndi. Thank you to all who joined us and thank you Georgia Lyras for organizing us.

In November we joined forces once again with AHEPA and cosponsored a symposium to bring to the community the latest in health and medical information. This year's program was "Take Control through Fitness and Nutrition". Thank you to our guest speakers Kalli Anctil and Cassie Kondos who shared with us the most current information and techniques on the subject of health through fitness and nutrition. 50 people attended this event and we all went home with a few easy tricks on how to eat properly and exercise daily! Thank you Serene Romas and Phil Koutsis for organizing the symposium and thank you to all who joined us.

....And what about that mountain of blankets growing in the hallway this month....?!

During the months of November and December the blankets will be distributed to the homeless we serve through our monthly outreach with Emmaus House. A GREAT big thank you to all who donated blankets and sleeping bags.

Some important days to remember...

Presiding Priest

Dear Father Nick,

I just want to let you know that since the Thanksgiving Day Broadcast, we have received more phone calls than any other year about the Interreligious Council of New Rochelle broadcast. Our many loyal listeners were so appreciative of the fact that they were able to tune into a community Thanksgiving service that means so much to so many.

Since the mission of the Interreligious Council has been the commitment to promote understanding of all religions, the fact that our local community radio station was able to continue what has become a traditional on-air event, was of major importance to our audience.

I would appreciate it if you could send accolades to Dino Yotides from our WVOX staff for becoming part of our radio family as commentator. But most of all Father Nick, I want to thank you for literally coming to our rescue and making magic happen on Thanksgiving morning.

Warm Regards,

Judy Fremont

Dear Aspasia:

Greetings in the name of the Lord.

Thank you so much for recognizing the importance of engaging the young people in your parish in international missions! We have received your gift in support of the Coin Box Program. Funds raised through the coin boxes will support the mission ministries of the OCMC which work toward the further growth of Christ's Church around the world.

On behalf of all these people, including our OCMC missionaries, board members and staff, we thank the Lord for your support in both prayers and gifts, and we pray for God's continual blessing upon all for things truly eternal.

With love in Christ,
